The Ruling Passion. A celebrated musical critic was re-cently married in church, and after the ceremony, as the wedding procession marched down the aisle, the organist played the wedding march from "Lo-bengrin." When near the door, the bridggroom stopped in the march to ridegroom stopped in the march and ddressed the wondering assembly thus: "I know I am committing a breach of etiquette as well as propriety in domy mental organization which has beme ineffably sensitive by reason of

Then he drew from the pocket of his dress coat a well thumbed copy of the score of "Lohengrin." Opening it at the march, he went over to the organist and enid: "What offended my ear was the fact that in the seventeenth bar of the da capo passage you flatted very badly, and in the andante movement you and in the annuante and Now," put-slurred the appoggiatura. Now," putting his finger upon the passage, us try that again."

Once more the organ pealed forth, and this time the player, conscious that the great critic was listening to him, accomplished his duty with credit to himself and to the great satisfaction of the critic. - Pick Me Up.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water let it stand twenty four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unbealthy condition of the kidneys: if it stains your lines it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also conrincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order. What to do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy to fills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects insbility to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the dzy, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is is soon realized. It stands the highestor its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty cent and one dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Bingham'or, N. Y. When writing mention that you read this generous offer in The Belle fontaine REPUBLICAN.

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of.

There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes:

"I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and different inhaling remedies in fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse than the year previous.

"Finally it was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after thinking over the matter, I saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by system, and a complete cure was the result. I advise all who have this dreadful disease to abandon their local treatment, which has never done them any good, and take 8.8.8. a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it."

To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases.

S.S. For Blood is Purely Vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no langerous minerals.

Cloth, velvet and all-over lace are associated in this fascinating little coat, with bands of passementerie giving a most effective finish. The coat is cut low at the neck to show a velvet shield, and completing the top of the coat is a fanciful velvet collar overlaid with lace; the collar at the back is most original in shape, resembling a three-leaf up each side of the front. The lower front corners of the coat are rounding, giving a slightly flaring effect. The two-seam sleeves are finished with flaring lace and velvet cuffs. A velvet belt finished with a pointed end encircles the waist. The little hood fits the head snugly and is softly edged with fur. The style of this little garment, for which we are indebted to The Delineator, is unquestionable. Specially prepared for us by The Butterick Publishing Oo. (Limited).

Many farmers seem; to think they must idly live in the winter upon wha they have accumulated in the summer To these unfortunates the winter rep resents so much lost time; but it need not be so if they will but get out of the old rut and spend more time with their thinking machinery.

Experience is the best school, but by tudying the experience of others a man can be greatly benefited in advance of that which he can gain by his own rials. How many farmers will apply hemselves for one hour these long winer evenings to the sciences of their pro-

It is not a suprise that stock raising ass received new impulse in the Southern States. Mild winter and perpetus grass, in a green stage, give an advan-age over the farmers living further north who must stable and feed their animals half the year. There are in centives to the growing of improved stock all along the line.

If some colonies in the apiary are short of stores, there may be other which have more than is necessary to carry them through, and frames of comb may be exchanged. It is certainly the proper thing to have frames of honey stored away for just such emergencies In other circumstances they must be given artificial food, of course.

seighboring towns are connected by te ephone wires it is a wonderful im-provement over the old, slow way of communication. If all farmers really knew the amount of convenience as comfort, the saving of time and of horse flesh, they would all soon belong to some There is not a day when they would no be found of valuable use.

A wilted cutting of a plant will grow less vigorously than one not wilted; a perfectly ripe potato, unless kept in cold storage, will soon begin to wilt losing its moisture, leaving the tuber shruken, and less fit for seeding purposes. This is not the case with the potato which has not reached full ripeness, but ft will return its moisture be brittle and in just the condition to give its sprouts a strong growth and WE HAVE THEM produce a thrifty crop.

Manure spread and plowed under in the old way seems to do no good in the first year, often. If coarse manure or green crops are plowed under in the in the spring to get the fertilizing matter near the surface, that it may quickly ferment at a higher temperature and and become plant food immediately. They must have sufficient heat to produce fermentation and nitrification before their product can be utilized; they will sour when kept too cold.

by it may be you cannot afford to longer pay rent for a farm. While lands are so low it may be the wise thing to venture on your own account, and be all the more saving for a few years. If unusual misfortune visit you there will be but little doubt that you can so sell as to save the investment made; yet there are two sides to the debt question, for debt often robs us of both peace and hope. In any event, it is better to be content with a small farm than to bond our future. Better to be happy now than to have visions of riches and ease in the future only.
